A Library

Mr. Editor, I am in for the public library mentioned in last weeks issue. I have twenty-five or more good books that I wish everybody could read. Then I read a little sometimes myself (when I can get the books) and it means a great deal to me.

Push it along. I am with you. I should think every club in town would have wholesome food for discussion until you get that library.

Yours for a library,
Jas. C. Jenkins.
